DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-17, drawn to a method of cleaning a fouled RO membrane, classified in class 134, subclass 26.
 - II. Claims 18-33, drawn to an apparatus, classified in class 134, subclass 50.
 - III. Claims 34-35, drawn to a method of cleaning a fouled RO membrane, classified in class 134, subclass 34.
2. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another and materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case, the method can be performed by a different apparatus which does not require a plurality of valves. For example, a single valve with a switching mechanism can be used. Additionally, the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process which does not require a differential pressure or withdrawing the concentrated saline solution together with the foulant.

Inventions I and III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different designs, modes of operation, and effects (MPEP § 802.01 and § 806.06). In the instant case, the different inventions have different modes of operation.

Inventions II and III are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another and materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case, the method can be performed by a different apparatus which does not require a plurality of valves. For example, a single valve with a switching mechanism can be used. Additionally, the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process which does not require changing the gauge pressure to a pulsating pressure.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.
